In this animated short, Matt Furie uses a celebrity interviewer to talk to a character from the movie about his role and the history of Turing. Every time I visit the White House, I meet a new entertainment superstar. This time, I will meet none other than Benedict Cumberbatch! He’s a very gifted actor whose career spans the web and the stage and has just finished filming a new role in Imitation Game, a biopic about Alan Turing. Alan Turing was a mathematician who changed the way we think about computing in the 20th century by designing and building the first computer, the Turing Machine. It was used to analyze trajectories of balls in a labyrinth and it was pretty smart about it. Alan Turing died when he was only thirty years old. In the movie, Turing is played by Cumberbatch. I hope he enjoys meeting me and talking to me in front of millions of fans. Who knows, maybe I will ask him to do a silly voice. We’ll see! Oh, and if you’re wondering what his character looks like… Continue reading for more animation. The movie was co-written and directed by Graham Moore. It also features Toby Jones, Keira Knightley, and Cillian Murphy (from Peaky Blinders
