" LA is a self-help destination for many, and Photoshop provides users with everything they need to improve their lives. We're thrilled to be bringing all this innovation and creativity to Adobe MAX by showcasing how the power of collaboration and AI can break down barriers that sometimes keep people from creating. Our customers deserve the best, and we're excited to provide it." " The place where ideas become reality is only as strong as the people who come together to work on those ideas. Whether you're a designer, engineer, artist, or someone working on crowdsourced projects, we want to empower you to come together and make bolder, bolder and better." The new functionality builds upon the progress made in the cosmetics category of the Adobe MAX conference, held at the Los Angeles Convention Center September 24-27. The new Photoshop for the Web will be available in early 2020, and the upgrades are coming to Adobe Photoshop 3D soon. The beta Share for Review functionality allows users to provide strong level-of-detail (LoD) areas in images in a new split, editing window in Adobe Photoshop (2018 and 2019) for more streamlined collaboration, enabling a design team to share key elements at a glance. " Over the past decade we've made changes to Adobe Photoshop to fit different types of projects and the fluid way that people work. But our customers told us that our tools weren't meeting their needs and were failing to help them perform. With Share for Review, we're enabling anyone to more easily collaborate on projects and deliver superior work with Photoshop. You can now work with a team on a single project from any computer, on any surface. Meanwhile, designers can build and iterate assets virtually across screens."

We are introducing a new mobile app that, when optimized, will deliver exceptional mobile performance that will delight our customers. The popular Adobe Link mobile app, which is an extension of the web browser, has been completely rebuilt for mobile SLOWER DELIVERY, with better, more intuitive navigation. It also affords customers a wider and more reliable application for viewing and editing mobile content. With the new Photoshop, you'll soon be able to create any type of image and easily change paint colors, transformations, and textures to achieve the perfect result. You can even customize your workspace to fit your personal needs, and you'll be able to import and edit large images with native support for the latest photo formats using internal UHD Alliance 4K media drives, such as the MXF Native and DFD formats. With the new Photoshop, you'll also be able to work much faster and move easily between your favorite features, including new in-app tutorials and consistency in UI design across platforms. All new features have been designed to help you beyond your work – you'll also enjoy some of the same features in the browser both offline and online, and you can even edit files with images inside them using Photoshop's annotation tools in the browser. Adobe recently unveiled The People of Color in the South at New Orleans Mardi Gras, a unique class that uses the new Photoshop App , allowing you to combine a variety of desktop-based editing features with mobile collaboration to achieve the best results.
